On September 9, 2014, Grace issued a press release (the "Press Release") announcing that Grace—Conn., its wholly-owned subsidiary, intends, subject to market and other conditions, to offer up to $1.0 billion aggregate principal amount of notes due in 2021 and 2024 (the "notes") in a private offering. Grace expects to use the proceeds from the offering: (i) to terminate its obligations under the deferred payment agreement with the PI Trust for approximately $632 million; (ii) to partially fund the settlement of the warrant issued to the PI Trust; (iii) to repay amounts outstanding under its revolving credit facility; (iv) to pay certain fees and expenses incurred in connection with the offering of the notes; and (v) for other general corporate purposes. Such statements generally include the words "believes," "plans," "intends," "targets," "will," "expects," "suggests," "anticipates," "outlook," "continues" or similar expressions. Forward-looking statements include, without limitation, expected financial positions; results of operations; cash flows; financing plans; business strategy; budgets; capital and other expenditures; competitive positions; growth opportunities for existing products; benefits from new technology and cost reduction initiatives, plans and objectives; and markets for securities. For these statements, we claim the protection of the safe harbor for forward-looking statements contained in Section 27A of the Securities Act and Section 21E of the Exchange Act. Like other businesses, we are subject to risks and uncertainties that could cause our actual results to differ materially from our projections or that could cause other forward-looking statements to prove incorrect. Factors that could cause actual results to materially differ from those contained in the forward-looking statements include, without limitation: risks related to foreign operations, especially in emerging regions, including currency exchange rate changes; the cost and availability of raw materials and energy; the effectiveness of our research and development and growth investments; acquisitions and divestitures of assets and gains and losses from dispositions; developments affecting our funded and unfunded pension obligations; our legal and environmental proceedings; costs of compliance with environmental regulation; and those factors set forth in our most recent Annual Report on Form 10-K, our quarterly reports on Form 10-Q and current reports on Form 8-K, which have been filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission and are readily available on the Internet at www.sec.gov. Our reported results should not be considered as an indication of our future performance. Readers are cautioned not to place undue reliance on our projections and forward-looking statements, which speak only as of the date thereof.
