VODAFONE IRELAND AND THREE IRELAND ANNOUNCE STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIP TO SHARE NETWORK INFRASTRUCTURE

- New 50/50 joint venture company established to manage shared physical infrastructure.
- Companies to pool site portfolios and ancillary infrastructure across approximately 2000 sites.
- Both companies will continue to run their own radio equipment and spectrum independently of each other.

Vodafone Ireland and Three Ireland today announced a strategic partnership agreement creating a 50/50 joint venture company to share their physical network and site infrastructure at approximately 2000 locations across the country. Both companies will continue to run the intelligent elements of the network separately, including their core network capabilities and service platforms, as well as manage their own radio equipment and spectrum independently.

The strategic partnership is the first of its kind in Ireland whereby the joint venture company¹ will manage the rapid roll-out of a consolidated portfolio of shared network sites and infrastructure. The joint venture will also be responsible for maintenance, on-going operational service and associated equipment. Benefits to Vodafone Ireland and Three Ireland include the ability to purchase network infrastructure equipment together to reduce costs, increasing the number of sites connected to a fibre backhaul network and the opportunity to expand mobile network coverage for customers.

Consolidation of network sites and the transmission infrastructure of competing telecommunications companies is underway industry-wide, across many markets. Under this agreement, duplicate sites will be decommissioned, and each company will have access to the other's sites. Both companies will continue to remain independently responsible for what technology and spectrum is deployed on a site-by-site basis and what standard of service customers experience. Each operator retains the flexibility to invest in dedicated sites and equally to choose the pace and degree of new technology deployment according to the level of service each company plans to deliver.

Jeroen Hoencamp, CEO of Vodafone Ireland, said: Securing future investment for technologies in a competitive market is critical to maintaining a sustainable business. We believe this partnership will place both companies in a stronger position to commit to future investment in our network, and the products and services we provide to customers.

This agreement, in which infrastructure is shared between both parties, means we can concentrate investment on the intelligent part of the network that will ultimately deliver a better experience for Vodafone customers. At a retail level, we will continue to compete with each other and with other operators as aggressively as before as part of our commitment to deliver great value and innovative services to consumers and businesses across the country.

Welcoming the partnership, Robert Finnegan, CEO of Three Ireland, commented: Around the world, operators are adopting a network sharing and consolidation strategy that delivers cost efficiencies and rapid network expansion with the roll-out of new technologies such as LTE, whilst still competing fiercely on customer service and acquisition. Today's announcement is significant for Irish consumers jointly we're creating the largest physical network in Ireland with the best network quality and service. As a result of this agreement we expect to be able to deliver the latest technologies to our customers faster than ever before. This new joint venture combines the best of both networks and will be the smart choice for the savvy mobile customer.

The new company is expected to be fully operational from the Autumn and will be headquartered in Dublin. The Managing Director will be appointed from an independent pool of talent and the new company will have its own Management Board. Approximately 80 employees will transfer from Vodafone Ireland and Three Ireland to the new joint venture company after a consultation period. These will include employees that currently work in the Radio and Transmission teams, the Network Operations Centre, and some support roles.

(1) Conditional awards of shares were granted on 3 July 2012 by the Company. The awards have been granted in accordance with the Vodafone Global Incentive Plan (incorporating co-investment). The vesting of these awards is conditional on continued employment with the Vodafone Group, retention of co-investment and on the satisfaction of a performance condition approved by the Remuneration Committee. The performance condition is based on free cash flow performance with a multiplier that is based on comparative total shareholder return (TSR) performance. The free cash flow performance is based on a three year cumulative adjusted free cash flow figure. The target adjusted free cash flow level is set by reference to the Company s three year plan and market expectations; 100% of the award will vest for target performance, rising to 150% vesting for maximum performance. The multiplier is based on the TSR of the Company over the three year performance period 1 April 2012 to 31 March 2015 relative to a peer group of five companies within the European Telecoms sector as well as one emerging market composite.

There will be no increase in vesting until TSR performance exceeds median, at which point the multiplier will increase up to two on a linear basis for upper quintile performance. The maximum vesting is 300%: for maximum free cash flow performance (150%) and maximum TSR performance (multiplier of 2). For further details of the Plan, please see pages 79 and 80 of the Company's 2012 Annual Report, available at www.vodafone.com/investor.

four times salary for the Chief Executive, three times salary for other Board Directors and two times salary for the other PDMRs, who are members of the Executive Committee.
