Recent Events

- In connection with non-labor concessionary agreements, the company issued common stock. As a result, our weighted-average shares outstanding for 2Q03 will be approximately 158M.
- Our current liquidity has been bolstered by our reduced costs, in combination with recently improved unit revenues (as measured by revenue per available seat mile). April 2003 unit revenues (which were impacted by the war in Iraq and concerns over SARS) were slightly lower than a year ago, and May 2003 unit revenues were up 4% from their year-ago level. We are also experiencing improved unit revenue trends for June relative to last year. While improving in recent months, our revenues are still depressed relative to historical levels. Our reduced costs and improved unit revenues enabled us to generate positive cash flows from operations in May 2003 (excluding the benefit of the $358 million in security cost reimbursements we received under the Emergency Wartime Supplemental Appropriations Act in May). If the improved unit revenue environment continues, we would expect to show similar positive operating cash flow results in June 2003.
