Accordingly, they do not include all the information and footnotes required by generally accepted accounting principles for annual financial statements.

The information furnished herein reflects all adjustments and accruals that management believes is necessary to fairly state the operating results for the respective periods. The notes to the financial statements should be read in conjunction with the notes to the consolidated financial statements contained in the Company's Form 10-KSB for the year ended December 31, 2004. The Company's management believes that the disclosures are sufficient for interim financial reporting purposes.

Note 2 Net Income (Loss) per Share

Net income (loss) per share, assuming no dilution, are based on the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the period: 519,350 (2005 and 2004).

Note 3 Business Segment Data

The Company's operations are conducted through two business segments. These segments, and the primary operations of each, are as follows:

| Business Segment                                    | Operation                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                  |

For the six month period ended June 30, 2005 and 2004, sales of frozen strawberry products totaled $108,352 and $240,380, respectively.

The Company does not account for intersegment transfers as if the transfers were to third parties.

The Company does not prepare operating profit or loss information on a segment basis for internal use, until the end of each year. Due to the seasonal nature of the fruit segment management believes that it is not practical to prepare this information for interim reporting purposes. Therefore, reporting is not required by generally accepted accounting principles.

Note 4 Business Combination

On May 13, 2004, the Company acquired 100 percent of the outstanding shares of Mastercraft Products Corporation, for a total cost of $887,081. The results of Mastercraft Products Corporation operations have been included in the consolidated financial statements since April 1, 2004. Mastercraft Products Corporation manufactures and sells custom plastic and related products. The acquisition was made to increase the Company's customer base and add new products to the Company's existing line of plastics goods. The source of funds for the acquisition was a combination of the Company's available cash and loan proceeds of $800,000.

The following (unaudited) pro forma consolidated results of operations have been prepared as if the acquisition of Mastercraft Products Corporation had occurred at January 1, 2004:

Item 2. Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and

Results of Operations

Overview

The Company's core business, glace' (candied) fruit, which accounted for approximately 70% of total annual net sales during 2004, is highly seasonal. That is because the products are utilized primarily as ingredients for fruitcakes and other winter holiday confections, and nearly 85% of the annual shipments in that segment of business are made during an eight to ten week period, beginning in early September. However, in order to make timely deliveries during this period of peak demand, Paradise, Inc. must manufacture, package and store products throughout the year, building large inventories, and accruing expenses against which there is little offsetting income. The recording of substantial losses is common well into the fourth quarter, even during the most profitable years. Therefore, it is the opinion of management that only a full year's financial reporting will yield a meaningful measure of the Company's performance.

Manufacturing activity varies greatly from quarter to quarter and from year to year, depending on seasonal harvests and availability of raw materials, anticipated orders and other factors. A comparison of the current quarter with that immediately preceding or the similar quarter during the past year yields little useful information, so "Management's Discussion" is confined to data from the current year-to-date as compared to the like period during the preceding year.

The Company's other business segment, Paradise Plastics, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of Paradise, Inc., producing custom molding products, does not have the extreme seasonal variations as experienced in the fruit segment. This segment initially developed to provide in-house packaging capabilities for the sale of glace' (candied) fruit products, represented 30% of the Company's total consolidated annual net sales to unaffiliated customers during the past year.

The First Six Months

Paradise Plastics, Inc.'s net sales, to unaffiliated customers, increased 39% for the first six months of 2005 compared to the similar period of 2004. This increase includes $691,048 in net sales from Mastercraft Products Corporation compared to $240,727 recorded in the prior year's six month report. As mentioned in a previous filing, Paradise, Inc. acquired 100% of the outstanding shares of Mastercraft Products Corporation on May 13, 2004. This Central Florida based thermoformer sells plastics products to clients in the food, medical and high-tech industries throughout the Southeastern United States. Growth in this business segment has been related to the consistent ability to provide high-tech engineered plastics products for its customers.

Paradise, Inc.'s fruit segment net sales, which are highly seasonal, decreased by 8.9% for the first six months of 2005 compared to the similar period of 2004. Weather conditions surrounding the spring harvest season for strawberries, delayed and then limited the availability of frozen strawberry products processed on behalf of a Central Florida distributor. However, with less than 5% of anticipated fruit segment net sales recorded to date, no reasonable trend in sales activity can be determined at this time.

Cost of sales, as a percentage of net sales, increased 8.4% compared to the prior year's reporting period. Price increases absorbed from the Company's suppliers of plastics raw materials, caused in part by rising fuel cost has contributed to this increase. In addition, part-time labor expense, which is highest during the glace' fruit production period of May through November, has increase slightly, as the State of Florida increased minimum wage, effective May 2, 2005.

Selling expenses increased 17% for the first six months of 2005 compared to the similar period of 2004 based upon the following events. First, the Company negotiated a settlement with a national food brokerage firm to resolve a dispute regarding certain marketing expenses incurred on behalf of Paradise, Inc. Secondly, due to changes in market conditions and along with competitive price alternatives for the procurement of raw fruit products, Paradise, Inc.terminated its minority interest in the Company's Mexican based supplier of pineapple. Finally, Paradise, Inc. incurred selling expenses with the Company's decision to terminate a joint marketing agreement with a West Coast distributor of frozen strawberry products. Expenses associated with these events totaled $129,636. This amount was charged to operations during the second quarter of 2005. No additional expenses regarding these events are anticipated in the future.

General and administrative expenses increased 2.4% for the first six months of 2005 compared to previous year's reporting period. Despite several administrative employee retirements over the past year, increases in pension plan contributions along with the premiums paid related to the employer's share of health insurance have reduced the savings achieved in this category.

Depreciation and amortization expenses increased 9.6% for the first six months of 2005 compared to the similar period of 2004 as the Company placed more than $425,000 in Plastics thermoforming equipment into operations during the second half of 2004.

Interest expense decreased slightly over the previous year's six month reporting period as improved cash flow from Paradise Plastics, Inc. offset increases in the rate of interest charged by the Company's primary lender on its revolving short-term working capital loan.

Paradise, Inc.'s consolidated net sales, increased 29% for the first six months of 2005 compared to the similar period of 2004. However, with an 8.4% increase in the cost of sales, combined with a one-time charge of $129,636 to terminate several vendor agreements, Paradise, Inc.'s net operating loss for the first six months of 2005 increased by $143,527 compared to the similar period of 2004.

Finally, with less than 25% of consolidated net sales activity generated to date, management can not make any reasonable forecast as to the Company's year end profit. Only a full year's accounting will yield any meaningful results as to the Company's overall performance and profitability.

Item 3. Controls and Procedures

The Company's Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer have, within 90 days of the filing date of this quarterly report, evaluated the Company's disclosure controls and procedures. Based on their evaluation, the Company's Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer have concluded that the Company's disclosure controls and procedures are effective to ensure that information required to be disclosed by the Company in reports that it files or submits under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 is recorded, processed, summarized and reported within the time periods specified in the applicable Securities and Exchange Commission rules and forms. There were no significant changes in the Company's internal controls or in other factors that could significantly affect these controls subsequent to the date of the most recent evaluation of these controls by the Company's Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer. No significant deficiencies or material weaknesses in the Company's internal controls were identified, therefore, no corrective actions were taken.
