GRUPO TELEVISA RESPONDS TO INTERNET RIGHTS RULING

Mexico City, July 17, 2009 — Grupo Televisa, S.A.B. ("Televisa"; NYSE:TV; BMV:TLEVISA CPO). In response to today's ruling by U.S. District Judge Philip S. Gutierrez, Televisa stated that it is disappointed with the judge's decision and plans to appeal. Importantly, the judge's ruling does not grant Univision the right to distribute Televisa content over the Internet, and this decision has no effect on Televisa's business as the company does not derive any revenues from the transmission of content over the Internet in the United States.

Televisa stated, "While we do not agree with the judge's ruling, it is disingenuous for Univision to characterize this decision as anything more than a pyrrhic victory that maintains the status quo. Univision does not have the right to broadcast Televisa content over the Internet, and Televisa would vigorously oppose any such frivolous claim by Univision that it does. It would seem that the only apparent winners in this ruling are Internet sites that are unauthorized to replay the content."

Grupo Televisa, S.A.B., is the largest media company in the Spanish-speaking world and a major participant in the international entertainment business. It has interests in television production and broadcasting, production of pay-television networks, international distribution of television programming, direct to home satellite services, cable television and telecommunication services, magazine publishing and publishing distribution, radio production and broadcasting, professional sports and live entertainment, feature-film production and distribution, the operation of an internet portal, and gaming. Grupo Televisa also owns an unconsolidated equity stake in La Sexta, a free-to-air television venture in Spain.
