Item 1.01 Entry into Material Definitive Agreements

On December 31, 2008, Socket Mobile, Inc. (the "Company") entered into new domestic and international working capital credit facility agreements (the "Loan Agreements") with Silicon Valley Bank (the "Lender"), replacing the prior credit facility agreements with the Lender. Pursuant to the Loan Agreements, the Company may borrow up to $2.5 million, of which up to $1.0 million is based on qualified receivables from domestic (U.S. based) customers and up to $1.5 million is based on qualified receivables from international customers.

Advances against the domestic line are calculated at 80% of receivables except for receivables from distributors which are calculated at 60%. Advances against the international line are calculated at 80% against hedged receivables and 70% against non-hedged receivables, except for receivables from distributors which are calculated at 60%.

Borrowings under the lines bear an annual interest rate equal to the greater of (i) the Lender's prime rate plus 2%, or (ii) 6%. There is also a collateral handling fee of 0.7% per month. The applicable interest and fees are calculated based on the full amount of the account receivable provided as collateral for the actual amounts borrowed. The lines expire on February 15, 2009 and the Company expects to renew the lines at that time.

The Loan Agreements, as in the prior agreements, contain customary representations, warranties and covenants, including covenants limiting the Company's ability to incur additional liens or indebtedness, make distributions to its stockholders and make investments. In addition, the Company must maintain a minimum liquidity (cash plus availability under the lines) of at least $250,000.

As in the prior agreements, the Loan Agreements contain customary events of default that entitle the Lender to accelerate the Company's obligations and require repayment of the Company's outstanding indebtedness thereunder. These events of default include, among others, the Company's breach of its payment obligations or covenants, a material impairment of the Company's financial condition or ability to repay any indebtedness to the Lender and the commencement of dissolution or insolvency proceedings.

To secure the Company's borrowings under the Loan Agreements, the Company continues to provide the Lender a first priority security interest in all assets of the Company, including its intellectual property.

The foregoing description of the Loan Agreements does not purport to be complete and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of the Loan Agreements, copies of which are attached hereto as Exhibit 10.11 and Exhibit 10.12 and are incorporated herein by reference.

This report contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended that involve risks and uncertainties, specifically statements relating to the renewal of credit lines. We assume no obligation to update such forward-looking statements.
