Dear Sirs:

As you know, Steel Partners II, L.P. (“Steel”) is one of the largest shareholders of EnPro Industries, Inc. (“EnPro” or the “Company”) owning approximately 11.3% of its outstanding common stock. We have been a long-term committed shareholder, having first invested in 2003 because we believed the market substantially undervalued the Company. The management team has done an excellent job of improving EnPro’s operations over the last several years, the most recent example of which is its third quarter operations performance, which reflected continued revenue growth and increasing segment operating profits and margins. Unfortunately for EnPro’s shareholders, a poor job has been done managing the Company’s balance sheet and allocating its capital.

We have been extremely disappointed to see the share price decline by 33% since EnPro’s third quarter earnings announcement and by 40% since its July 12, 2007 high. We believe that the primary factors contributing to this sharp decline and undervaluation of EnPro’s stock are the Company’s inefficient balance sheet and perceived succession risk.

As such, we recommend EnPro capitalize on its operating momentum and utilize the strength of its balance sheet and substantial excess liquidity to pursue a public recapitalization at $30.00 a share. Through a combination of EnPro's excess cash and availability under its existing credit facility, the Company should be in a position to self tender for at least $150 million of common stock, or approximately 23% of its outstanding shares at the aforementioned price per share.

The proposed recapitalization offers several benefits to EnPro and its shareholders. First, given EnPro's current market valuation and considering its favorable prospects, we do not believe it is likely that the Company will find any alternatives offering higher returns on investment. As such, the recapitalization offers the most efficient use of capital. Second, the recapitalization would provide immediate liquidity at a premium to the current share price for your shareholders who elect to tender. Third, a more efficient balance sheet will lower EnPro's cost of capital and enhance the growth of the Company's levered free cash and therefore increase the upside to those shareholders who opt not to tender their shares. After this recapitalization, EnPro will still enjoy a strong and flexible balance sheet that would support the Company's long term strategic vision. Pro forma for the recapitalization, EnPro's leverage and fixed charges ratios will remain highly conservative, allowing for ample additional debt capacity when and if needed.

The status quo is not acceptable to Steel. If EnPro is unwilling to pursue a recapitalization, we strongly encourage the Board to hire a nationally recognized investment banking firm to explore all strategic alternatives to maximize shareholder value, including a sale of the Company. We expect that such a process will garner a high level of interest. Although the Board declined our previous offer to enter into negotiations to acquire EnPro's outstanding common stock for $47 a share in June 2007, we remain interested in purchasing the Company and would expect to participate in such a sale process.

We trust that the best interests of all shareholders continue to be of utmost importance to you and the members of the Board and look forward to your prompt response. In the meantime, we must preserve our right to seek representation on the Board of Directors to the extent you do not pursue the recapitalization transaction discussed above or take the steps necessary to maximize shareholder value. Accordingly, attached hereto is a copy of the notice being delivered simultaneously to the Corporate Secretary of EnPro nominating five directors for election at the next annual meeting of shareholders of the Company.

Respectfully,

/s/ Warren G. Lichtenstein
